Building inspections start

By JEFF BROWN
BELLE GLADE - Belle Glade city officials are in the early stages of a building inspection program that Planning Director Remar M. Harvin said should result in the inspection of every building in the blighted southwest section of the city within a year.

Building Inspector Barry Underwood and Pervis Benjamin started the inspections Tuesday morning, September 27.

Underwood estimates that about 300 structures containing 1,546 living units will be inspected. A stipulation in the settlement of the Dunbar vs. city of Belle Glade law suit mandates that 184 of those dwellings be inspected.

Harvin said this inspection will not only satisfy that stipulation but also will be a step in implementing the five-year plan Harvin has proposed.

Under the five-year plan, which has never been officially adopted, every residence in the city will be inspected within a five-year period.

Harvin said that once the inspections in the densely populated section targeted by the law suit are completed, most of the inspections will be easier.

The 300 inspections the city building inspectors started work on this week will include all buildings between Avenue A on the north and Southwest Avenue E in the south, Southwest Fourth Street in the east and Southwest 10th Street in the west.

"This will really shake-up the area down there," said Underwood. He said the last rooming house inspection he made resulted in the owner making about $10,000 in repairs and renovations.

Harvin pointed out that property owners who have condemned buildings can have the buildings demolished at the county's expense provided they have sole claim to the building with no liens or other claims against the property.

He said so far, four local buildings have been demolished by the county when the owners signed consent forms, six others have signed the forms and he is attempting to clear the way for six other property owners to sign the forms and have their buildings demolished.

The process toward demolition of a building starts when a red "no occupancy" sign is posted on a building.

Harvin said those signs can be posted by employees of the public works, police and building departments.

He added that the department isn't seeking to demolish or close down standard housing units and that it doesn't want to discourage property owners from bringing sub-standard housing up to par with improvements.

City officials had made a visual inspection of the exterior of 148 buildings in the targeted area earlier this year and determined that 17 of the buildings are probably dilapidated and beyond repair while 83 are probably deteriorated and need some work. The remaining 48 were determined to be standard.

The city will also be hiring a code enforcement officer to help lessen the burden on Underwood and Benjamin, according to Harvin. The officer has been requested as part of a federal jobs bill package but Harvin said the city is obligated to hire the code enforcement officer whether or not the federal funding is approved.

In Pahokee

Trailer code to be revised

PAHOKEE - Pahokee city officials are scheduled to meet Tuesday, October 18 to discuss recommended changes to the city ordinance governing mobile homes.

The Pahokee Planning and Zoning Board, in a letter dated September 14, asked the city council to make four revisions in the current code, but some board and council members are apparently willing to scrap the entire ordinance and adopt a new one.

"Rather than make a change here and there, look at the entire ordinance," suggested City Attorney Mike Stauder. "There's too many exceptions to this ordinance to make it feasible to enforce properly. If you don't like this ordinance, why amend it? Why not just start over?"

Planning and Zoning Board Member William "Frenchy" Johnson said thought that was a good idea.

Stauder said the city could change the ordinance to make it do anything it wanted within reason.

The board had asked the city council to make four major revisions in the code:

- Eliminate a clause which, as it stands, allows any resident in the city to park an unoccupied mobile home on their property.

The proposed revision would also have eliminated all travel trailers from property, a stipulation most council members balked at.

That was revised to prohibit any occupied or unoccupied mobile home or occupied travel trailer from parking on private property. Mobile homes that would be enclosed and covered in a building would have been permitted, according to the discussion.

- Eliminate all security trailers unless they are used by watchmen employed by the owner of the property.

"We don't see what you gain by putting a trailer out there in the park (with a resident) who's not employed by the company," said Board Chairman Lyn Brinson. "I'm not opposed to anything per se. What I'm opposed to is the way these laws are abused."

- Eliminate hardship cases entirely because "it is being abused."

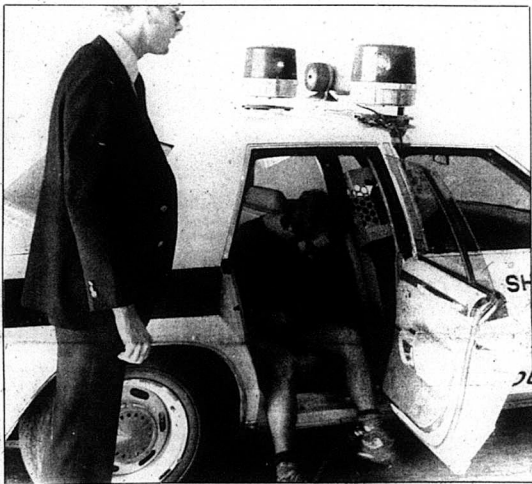

The recommendation went on to say "Trailers that are 'grandfathered in' will have one year from date of this new adopted code to remove said trailer."

- Revise the code to require the city council to abide by the recommendations of the planning board.

The city council, board members, city attorney and city building inspector are to attend the October 18 meeting at 7:30 p.m.

That will give the council a chance to review the recommendations and the code as it currently stands.

Brinson said that the board spends much of its meeting time trying to define and interpret the meaning of the current code of ordinances and that the recommendations are meant to make it more enforceable.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE Detective Cliff Simonds, left, watches while escapee Jack Ritter steps out of the patrol car after his delivery back to the Palm Beach County Jail north of Belle Glade Thursday, September 22. It was Ritter's third escape.

County jail escapee caught

The second escape from the new Palm Beach County Jail facility north of Belle Glade came to a close after the escapee was captured in Okeechobee County Friday afternoon, according to Detective Cliff Simonds of the Glades sub-station of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office.

Jack Ritter, 32, left the jail at about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, September 21, and was captured by Okeechobee Sheriff's Captain David Parkenson in Platts Bluff at about 1:30 the following afternoon.

Ritter was apparently walking along a street in the vicinity of a girl friend's residence when apprehended.

It was Ritter's third escape since entering the prison system in 1972.

He had also escaped from Union Correctional Institute in 1981 and Glades Correctional Institute July 17, 1983.

He was in the Palm Beach County facility pending charges from the July 17 escape.

At that time he was charged with escape from a state institute and carrying a concealed weapon by a convicted felon.

Last week's incident will result in a new charge, escape from a county jail.

Council won't take sides on issue

By JEFF BROWN
PAHOKEE - Pahokee city council members, responding to a request from former councilman George Tillis, made public their views on the city manager form of government versus the strong mayor-city council form the city currently operates under.

All the council members said they favored the concept of a city manager but, so far, the council has declined to take an official stand on the issue as one body.

The voters have a chance to express their views in a non-binding referendum October 25.

Mayor Duncan Padgett, who had previously come out strongly against the city manager proposals, said he intends not to campaign either way on the question of which concept the city should operate under unless the city council decides to take a public stand as a group.

"I'm willing to give you a fight," said Padgett. "I think it's something the people should decide but if you all want to take a stand on it, then I'll tell you what my stand is. I'm against it. I can't tell people how to vote no way, but I'm willing to give you a fight."

Tillis said he wasn't necessarily urging the council to take an official stand as the council, but added if the council members would express their opinions in some way, it would probably be important to some voters.

"Either way, your all's opinion would be very valuable in my mind," said Tillis. "I'd just like to see you all take a public stand one way or the other because I feel your stand is very valuable."

"You want us to all express our personal views on it?" asked Council President Ada Conley.

"I'm 100 percent for it," said Councilman Jon Mock.

"Me too," said Councilman Walter Rashley.

"So am I," said Councilman Ronnie Graydon.

"Me too," said Conley.

"I'm all for it if we go with it all the way, but I'm opposed if we can't go for part of it," said Councilman William E. McKinstry. "I've got some reservations about whether we can afford it, but I'm still for it."

New auditing firm retained by South Bay

SOUTH BAY - A new firm will probably be coming on board to audit South Bay's municipal books for the 1993-1994 fiscal year.

William Washington of West Palm Beach told the city commission Tuesday night, September 20 that his firm also audits Riviera Beach's books and the community development grant books for West Palm Beach.

His firm will be replacing the firm that has audited South Bay's books for the past four years: Nowlen, Holt, Miner and Kisker.

Ed Holt, a representative from the outgoing firm, asked the commission to stay with the same firm to avoid the "inefficiency" that a change in firms would cause.

His plea wasn't enough to persuade the necessary majority of three to swing his way, however.

Commissioner Willie Marshall moved that Washington be hired as the new auditor and Vice Mayor Vernita Cox seconded. The vote carried the motion 3-2 with Tanner and Garcia voting against it and Cox, Marshall and Renick Morris voting for the change.

Cox said she had heard at a Florida League of Cities workshop on audits that cities should change auditing firms occasionally.

Marshall had been openly critical of the city's auditing firm in the past and had originally asked the city to examine other auditing proposals.

He asked Holt why the commissioners hadn't been informed earlier than a "couple months ago" that the water and sewer budgets had a $74,000 deficit.

Holt replied that the deficit was probably a retained earnings deficit that was the result of fixed assets being off-set by liability.

He said the deficit was nothing to worry about and that the city should be more concerned about a fund balance deficit.

The retained earnings deficit probably existed for 20 to 30 years, he said.

Washington said his firm would absorb the first year start-up costs entailed by the change in auditing firms and that there probably be no decrease in fees for the following years because of that.

He also said he would be available for consultation but couldn't say how quickly he would be available if called by the commission.

"It would depend on how critical your needs are," he said. "I would suggest at the end of an audit that a workshop be set up to examine it. Normally, I would not come unless called."

Tanner said he was opposed to a change in auditing firms because the inefficiency caused by a change in firms will be reflected in the staff and he also wanted to see the city keep its money locally if possible. Nowlen, Holt, Miner and Kisker has an office in Belle Glade while Washington doesn't.

"Basically all audit reports are the same," said Tanner.

"You have your preface and a discussion of some problems that the city commission must solve. You won't attend meetings unless called."

Washington told the commission after the appointment was official that he would present the city with a fee proposal. If the city commission can reach agreement with him he will be auditing the city's 1993-1994 budget.

Commission buys insurance, sells tractor, and changes zoning

BELLE GLADE - Firefighters and police officers will receive life insurance as part of their benefits as a result of a new state requirement.

The city commission Monday evening, September 26, voted unanimously to purchase the state-required $50,000 death benefit policies for a three-year plan that will total $1,571. That low bid was submitted by Milton Carpenter Insurance of Belle Glade.

A single year's premium would be $582 so the city was saving slightly over 10 percent by purchasing the three year plan.

City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang, Jr. said the savings don't appear to be much, but the three-year premium protected the city from rate increases over that time span.

The city had received one other quote on the insurance. Burke, Egart and Brownell of Boca Raton offered a policy at $619 annually or $1,671 for three years.

The city commission also sold a diesel tractor with a backhoe and front end loader for $3,013, the high bid on the equipment the city had determined was surplus.

The first reading of an ordinance changing the zoning of a lot on Southwest Second Street was also passed by the city commission.

The ordinance, if passed at the second and final reading, will change the zoning of the lot located at 667 and 673 Southwest Second Street from R1 residential to R2 residential.

It will allow the owner to construct a quadplex on the site.

The proposal has caused some controversy among the residents in the area.

Some individuals in the area claim an apartment building will attract more dirt and crime to the area.

In other business, the city commission:

- Adopted a millage rate of 5.4302 on all taxable real and personal property in the city.
- The commission also approved the 1993-1994 fiscal budget of $5,239,373.
- A revenue sharing budget totaling $265,500 was also approved and the water and sewer budget, which totaled $3,710,258 also gained the commission's nod.
- A marina fund budget totaling $211,555 also was passed.
- Approved a request from Belle Glade Crime Watch, Inc. for a $500 donation from the 1993-1994 fiscal year budget.
- According to Finance Director Frank Anderson, the city's donation budget for the fiscal year which is ending had $603 left in it.
- Police Chief D. Bill Mathis asked for the donation so the Crime Watch Action Committee could afford to have more brochures printed.
- "In all fairness, the action committee is the real workhorse (of the organization)," said Mathis. "This committee has done a tremendous amount of work in the community. And I think a large part due to it, the crime rate has gone down substantially. I'd like to commend them."
- Told the Community Action Council that it had already budgeted $1,000 in the 1993-1994 budget for the organization.

The $1,000 funding was at the same level as last year, but Linda Evans, a local official with the council, asked the commission to consider increasing the donation.

"We need additional funds to help us," she said. "There are other cities which are helping with far more."

Mayor Thomas L. Altman said the commission would consider the request for a larger donation when it reexamines the budget in November or December.

- Learned of several proclamations the Mayor had made.

According to city clerk June H. Boglioli, Altman had declared: October 3 to October 15 Shrine Hospital Days; October 16 to October 22 Handicapped Awareness Week and October 17 to October 23 Palm Beach Junior College Golden Anniversary Week.

City awaits pay classification recommendations from firm

BELLE GLADE - A private firm is expected to bring recommendations to the Belle Glade city commission on changes to the city pay classification plan within 90 days, according to City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang, Jr.

The firm, Long Associates, was hired Monday night, September 26 by the city commission.

Strang recommended the city hire the consulting firm.

He said the firm would interview about 70 percent of the city employees and would make suggestions on streamlining the city operation.

He said if revisions should be made, the city commission must make the ultimate decision.

Part of the firm's report could include revised job descriptions, said Strang.

According to Strang, the firm determined that it could do the job for no more than $5,400.

The city commission had determined during the mid-summer budget session that it should hire an outside firm to review and revise the city pay classification plan and had budgeted funds in the 1993-1994 budget for the consultation.

The current plan was developed in-house.

Strang said he talked with three firms and determined that Long Associates would be able to best give the city the "personal touch" it needed.

Cable TV repairs in Glades area expected to be completed soon

Repairs to the cable television system in Belle Glade and South Bay should be completed in two weeks and in Pahokee in three and a half weeks if the weather cooperates, according to Sunbelt Cable, Incorporated officials.

Subscribers will be experiencing periodic lapses in their reception, through the final phases of the upgrading because the system is being "swept," according to Vice President Kevin McLaughlin, who addressed the Belle Glade city commission Monday evening, September 26 and the Pahokee city council September 27.

Sweeping, which started earlier this week, involves pulling and sometimes replacing electronic module units in the system. The reception will be interrupted anywhere from a few seconds to five minutes, according to James Brewer, a local manager with Sunbelt.

McLaughlin said the company should be complete the repairs to the system in the near future and will then be able to offer added cable channels "very, very soon."

When the company first approached the city commission in May, its spokesmen said they thought the system's repairs could be completed by the end of the calendar year. They acknowledged Monday night that they are ahead of schedule.

McLaughlin told the Pahokee city council the company plans are to expand the current 12 channel system. He added that soon after the upgrading is completed and the company is prepared to start offering the new satellite programming, he would probably approach the city council with a video tape presentation on the programming the company plans to add.

Council President Ada Conley said she hoped cable subscribers would realize there will be interruptions in reception while the work is completed and that they would delay their complaints until the work is scheduled to end.

"There is a public relations problem in that you are trying to do a positive, but there is also a negative," said McLaughlin of the improvements to the system and the reception problems it creates.

The company is apparently planning on adding the additional programming in some areas in November. A letter sent in the October cable bills by Sunbelt asks customers to watch for additional programming in November.

Annual poster contest planned

BELLE GLADE - The Beautification Committee of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce will host the annual poster contest for all interested parties in the City of Belle Glade.

Posters showing a scene of people cleaning up is required. Preferable on poster stock. The entrant must also have a slogan on the poster which state "Tidy Tim says," and then write a short slogan.

An example given was: "Tidy Tim says, 'Keep Belle Glade Clean and Green,'" or any short slogan which hopefully rhymes.

All entries must be in at the Chamber of Commerce by noon on October 6. Late entries will not be accepted as the judging will take place at 1:30 p.m. on the same day.

Three trophies will be awarded for the top three entrants and the winner will ride in the Chamber of Commerce float during the parade Saturday, October 29.

BG police warn of check-cashing scam

Local law enforcement officers are looking for a woman accused of cashing bogus payroll checks at area grocery stores, according to Detective Ray Swaford of the Belle Glade Police Department.

Swaford said there are active felony warrants throughout the state for Topaz Leona Mendez. She is wanted in Tampa, St. Petersburg, Bradenton, Palm Beach, Henry, Glades, Okeechobee, Martin and Highlands counties.

Apparently, she opened a checking account at Clewiston National Bank in Clewiston and received a large supply of counter checks.

She typed the name and address of fictitious businesses on the checks. Save-On Beauty Supplies, supposedly located at 1430 Sugarland Highway.

She also used a check writing machine to fill in the amount of the check.

The checks would then be cashed at a large grocery store. Sometimes, the suspect even fills out a check cashing card at the stores.

Swaford said the account at Clewiston National has been open about a month and she has been operating in Palm Beach, Glades, Hendry, Okeechobee, Martin and Highlands counties for the past few weeks.

She is described as a black female possibly accompanied by two black males. She stands five feet, five inches tall and weighs between 125 and 135 pounds. She dresses well and speaks as though well educated.

The suspect also allegedly uses at least 11 aliases and dates and six drivers licenses.

Her aliases include Topaz Leona Mendez, born November 10, 1952; Barbara Grace English, born October 14, 1955; Betty Helena Rahman, Toni Ann Benson, Margie Kaye Evans and Kimberly P. Cunningham, all born March 15, 1950. She also allegedly goes by the identity of Olivia Marie Carson and Joel Diane Austin, both born June 10, 1950; Barbara Jean Grace, November 10, 1952; Barbara Jean English, November 10, 1952 and Linda Irene Marks.

She also uses several other dates of birth: June 10, 1950; January 2, 1949; April 19, 1949; April 19, 1954; July 7, 1949; December 24, 1950 and November 10, 1952. Drivers licenses she has used include those numbered R 55008850595; B 52580150710;

1984 Jubilee concept now being developed

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE—The Black Gold Jubilee Steering Committee members are trying to develop a concept for the 1984 festival that will attract as much attention as 1983's largest sale.

Committee Chairman Ernie McCroon asked the committee members to bring their ideas to the next committee meeting Friday, October 7.

The committee's first meeting was Friday, September 23.

So far, the only definite plans the committee has made are to look into the possibility of hiring a "top flight" entertainer for the jubilee weekend and to accept an offer to bring the clown Ronald McDonald to the event.

McCroon said he isn't sure what a well-known entertainer would cost, but Judy Schiele of Palm Beach Junior College's Glades campus said she could find out at a convention later this month.

She added that some entertainers can be hired for lower rates if they happen to be in the area at the time of the festival anyway. She was asked to find out what type of country-western entertainers may be in the area and available during the April 13-15 weekend.

McCroon suggested that if an entertainer is hired, the committee may want to consider hiring the individual for an outdoor show and an indoor show at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center.

Other committee members said the limited seating capacity at the center could make the price of tickets at the indoor event unreasonable, depending on the price of the entertainer.

McCroon also said the committee will have to look into the possibility of charging an admission charge to the jubilee if it offers a big-name entertainer, but added that that may have to be looked at only if the committee does hire someone.

Ronald McDonald could appear at the jubilee for free and the McDonald officials apparently also offered free hamburgers during the weekend of the Black Gold Jubilee.

The committee decided to accept the offer of Ronald McDonald but not the hamburger, because it would compete with the other food concessions at the festival.

Will salad go into Guinness records?

BELLE GLADE—Will the world's largest salad tossed and served at the 1983 Black Gold Jubilee in Belle Glade make it into the Guinness World Record book?

Jubilee steering committee members aren't sure, but they're apparently going to give it their best shot.

A letter from the Guinness officials in England stated the salad didn't make it into the 1984 edition, but the information is on file and could be reconsidered when the book is revised in 1984.

Committee Chairman Ernie McCroon asked Secretary Jill Wright to write to the Guinness officials urging the salad be included in the next edition.

Kraft, the company which supplied salad dressing for the large salad, will also be asked to lobby for the salad's inclusion in the record book.

Opinion

New council could incite area growth

The Belle Glade City Commission has finally taken action in setting up an Economic Development Council.

Soon, it will be seeking at least five members for the board.

Those who ultimately serve on the board will be sitting on what could be one of the most important government branches in the area.

They will be charged with developing incentives that will attract business and industry to the area.

Tax incentives, loans and grants are just a few of the incentives that must be examined by the board.

If economic diversification is ever to be reached in this area, the area must be sold and the people on Belle Glade's Economic Development Board are in the position to develop the package that will best sell it.

They have many obstacles to overcome: poor roads leading in and out of the area, competition from other areas and a housing shortage to name just a few.

But the area does have a large unemployed potential workforce.

Many of the obstacles can be solved. Some of the problems could probably be better solved if the economy was already diversified and more people working, but decrying a catch 22 situation doesn't solve anything.

We hope the Economic Development Board successfully circumvents the disadvantages faced by the city and area and develops enough new advantages to make it worthwhile for some other industries to enter the area.

If code doesn't work, toss it out, replace it

We think the Pahokee city council and Planning and Zoning Board would make the right decision if it tosses out the current code of ordinances governing mobile homes and trailers in the city and drafts a new one.

We have reservations about a couple of the recommended changes the board wants to see in new code, but we think those things can be worked out among the parties.

It's obvious the current code isn't working. Trailers, mobile homes and their placement are a recurring problem at city council meetings.

Even City Attorney Mike Stauder admits there are too many exceptions to the current code for it to be enforceable.

He urged the city to throw it out and draft a new code.

If it ain't broke, don't fix it is a good rule to follow. We also think a good rule is, if it don't work and it's beyond repair, replace it.

We aren't sure it's a good idea to eliminate all hardship trailers or if it is, if it's possible to demand all hardship trailers be removed from the city within a year of the passing of a new code.

But we have faith that the city council's compassion and the city attorney's legal expertise will guide city officials to the appropriate action in those matters.

If we are reading the recommendations correctly, one clause would bind the council to accepting any recommendation of the board.

We don't think that's a good idea. The council members are the elected officials and, as such, are ultimately responsible for any decision coming from the Planning and Zoning Board or any other board in the city.

If they have the ultimate responsibility, they should retain the right to approve or disapprove any action by any board.

We hope the city can develop a workable, fair and enforceable code to govern trailers and mobile homes in the city.

Letter to grandson

Dear Brian,

I was delighted to learn during our phone conversation Sunday that the tooth fairy had not, as you feared, shortchanged you in her dealings over your most recently lost front tooth. I quite agree that if she is willing to pay Jeff or Fred, or whatever your friend's name is, one dollar for the loss of his tooth, she owes you no less.

At your age, discussing the matter of discrimination with your parents was exactly the proper thing to do. At six, you can expect your parents to file a complaint on your behalf or negotiate for a more equitable settlement. But I am glad your mother found the missing money when she made up your bed so that no formal action need be taken.

Even one dollar is little enough compensation for the pain and suffering involved, not to mention the temporary inconvenience, disfigurement and embarrassment that will be inflicted upon you in coming months. Your chief antagonists, of course, will be adults, who will taunt you about your missing teeth but who would, themselves, be shocked at your impudence if you asked them, "And what happened to all your teeth?"

I regret to advise you that I lost all confidence in the tooth fairy's sense of fairness when I was about 30. Two of my teeth, which were under my original warranty, failed to be delivered. Disregarding the manufacturer's claim that they would appear in the appropriate place at a preset time, the teeth (quite inappropriately called "wisdom" teeth) grew instead into the roof of my mouth and had to be removed by a dental surgeon. Since he was, as it were, in the wholesale business, I left the teeth with him to negotiate a fair price with the tooth fairy. Two weeks later I received a reply in the mail. It was a bill for $500 to be paid by me and not one cent to be contributed by the tooth fairy.

"And What Not"

When I returned to his office and requested my teeth, in order to strike a bargain for myself, he advised me he no longer had them in his possession. He loaned me two extracted teeth he had on hand, which I subsequently placed under my pillow, but the tooth fairy is not easily fooled. She did not pay a red cent.

As I stated previously, you will be inconvenienced by the temporary loss of more than one of your incisors. The heretofore tidy removal of corn from the cob will be denied you. Taking a bite from an apple will be a frustration. But out of adversity, triumphs achievement. Take advantage of this opportunity to learn to whistle through the aperture — or gap, if you like. With assiduous practice, you will perfect a shrill, piercing response to the asinine question posed by grown-ups of whatever happened to your front teeth. In a word, boy, it will knock their socks off.

At U.N., it's politics as usual

Whoever said money can't buy happiness knew what he was talking about.

Take the United Nations for example. Despite all the money the United States has pumped into the U.N. it has brought us neither happiness nor prosperity.

Instead, it seems every third world country in existence uses it as a soapbox to take pot shots at Uncle Sam.

The words were long overdue when a weary American diplomat recently invited anyone unhappy with the U.S. as host country to pick up and move the U.N. anywhere else they so wished. Does the U.N. really serve any purpose other than as forum? There is plenty of talk, but we seldom see action which we could be construed as beneficial to our interests. Quite the contrary.

For instance, Lebanon is a problem that the U.N. should be concerning itself with right now.

If U.N. members really want to see an end to the killing, why don't they do something about it. Simply, it's because it is to the advantage of the more radical countries to keep things boiling there.

A release came across my desk from Florida Senator Lawton Chiles which brought the issue into focus for me.

Chiles talks about the torment he has experienced because of the commitment of U.S. Marines in Lebanon. Chiles says the War Powers Act should be invoked to initiate a national debate on the matter and facilitate communication between the president and Congress.

"What is our purpose there? Do we have a purpose there that we should commit blood and our men's lives for? Is there a way of winning in the situation?" he asks.

The answers to each question seem clear, though that doesn't clear up the moral issues.

Chiles closes by saying:

"I remember so vividly 1971, my freshman year in the Senate. We were beginning to realize we had entered into a situation in Vietnam where we were not going to have a policy of trying to win. We had drawn lines which we would not cross. Our troops were fighting with their hands behind their backs. We were taking those casualties. And too many members of Congress were saying: 'Well, it wasn't our decision to send the troops there. Now that they are there, we can't cut off the support. So, what do we do?' "It would be unconscionable to allow this to happen again."

I think most of us share Chiles' agony over the Lebanon question.

There really is no international peace-keeping force in Lebanon now — only the U. S., France, and Italy.

At the same time, we are trying to keep the peace, other U.N. member countries are supplying the arms and ammunition to the various factions to ensure the killing continues.

If we can't get a consensus among the nations of the world through the U.N. to stop this hideous little war, I'm wondering what's the use of continuing to support it.

There seems little doubt, however, that we will continue to support the Lebanon peace-keeping force and the U. N. We pay in blood for one and money for the other.

It's politics as usual.

Is there ANYBODY out there?

If so, are you angry, happy, sad or just indifferent? We want to hear from you. Tell us what you think of the town you're living in and the people who run it. Tell us what you think of us. A letter to the editor can get your views across to others who may or may not feel the same way.

CDS nickname bothers man

Editor:

Although I am not at all interested in high school football, my own children having grown up, with children of their own, I happened to tune in the other day to the September 15 football game between Boca Raton Academy and Belle Glade Christian Day. My sympathies to the boys on their loss.

But what bothered me is that over and over, the boys were called the "Crusaders." I do not know if this is the name given them by the broadcaster or if this is their actual nickname. I am sure you are well aware of the fact that the Crusaders of eight or nine centuries ago were perhaps the greatest lot of freebooters, rapists, looters and murderers ever let loose on innocent, helpless citizens.

Gathered together on that night be called a noble cause, their path through Europe leaving a trail of blood, fire and rapine after them is well chronicled in history books. Yet, that path of misery was nothing compared to what they did in Constantinople when they murdered more than 300,000 of their fellow Christians, men, women and children, from infants to the aged.

Perhaps your athletic teams might want to adopt a name a bit more in keeping with the principles that you teach.

Additional inspections are commendable, logical

A stipulation that settled the court case of Dunbar vs. the City of Belle Glade mandated the city inspect 184 buildings between Avenue A and Southwest Avenue E and Southwest Fourth and Southwest 10th Streets.

The city has started those inspections this week. Building Inspector Barry K. Underwood and Planning Director Remar M. Harvin said the city plans to inspect two buildings a day and hopefully complete the inspection of all the buildings in the area within a year.

That's ALL the buildings in the area. Not just 184, but 300 of them. That's 116 more than required by the settlement.

Harvin said the inspections are just the first step in a five-year plan which will see the city inspect every residence in the city in five years.

Underwood predicts the inspections will result in a serious "shake-up" in the blighted southwest section of the town as landlords will be required to make repairs and renovations to deteriorated or dilapidated housing units.

We hope the city is successful in its plans and commend it for the decision to broaden the inspection plans and do more than what is required.

It wouldn't make sense to condemn one building on the required list and allow another in similar condition on the same block to stand just because the second building isn't on the list.

A pinch of salt...

The Family of God

In the New Testament the church is sometimes referred to as "the household of faith" or "the family of God." The Apostle Paul teaches that we have been adopted into this family just because God loves us. That makes me feel special and secure.

But there are many Christians who treat the "church family" like anything but family. I'm not even thinking now of the gossip, backbiting and vicious arguments that go on between believers. Neglect seems to be the most common mistreatment.

When I am going away for the day or for a week, I tell my wife where I am going, how I can be reached and when I expect to return. What husband and father wouldn't? But so many church members feel free to leave for a weekend (and there's nothing wrong with that, occasionally) without letting anyone know they will not be in church Sunday.

Board of Directors of the Independent Banker's Bank of Florida Thursday, Sept. 22.

Howard E. Kurtz, president of the First Bank of Clewiston was elected vice chairman.

And W. W. Mikell, president of the Bank of Belle Glade, was electd to the 20-member charter board of directors.

The Independent Banker's Bank of Florida, organized by the Independent Bankers of Florida, a banking trade organization of independent community banks throughout the state, is a wholesale correspondent bank exclusively for the state's independent banks.

Moon, a 25-year career executive at Bank of Pahoee, was chairman of the organizing committee appointed by Independent Bankers of Florida President Merle L. Glasper to investigate the feasibility and later organize the banker's bank.

Grand opening ceremonies were held Thursday, Sept. 22, at the bank's corporate headquarters in Orlando.

So here we are sitting in church Sunday morning, wondering, "Are they sick or wouldn't their car start; should I call to see if I can help in any way?" Believe it or not, some of your church family care enough about you that when you are AWOL they worry.

One of America's most successful businessmen and greatest financiers was J.L. Kraft, the founder of Kraft Cheese Company. This busy man was truly dedicated to Christ and the church. If he had to be out of town on even a Wednesday night or if he was sick, he would wire the pastor to say he would be praying for the prayer service that night.

"Are you busy? Too busy to notify your 'family' when you are not coming to the reunion? Next time you plan a trip or become ill, let someone at church know you will miss. Who knows, they just might pray for you.

Lohman leads Gators to 29-12 win over Dade

BELLE GLADE — Quarterback Brian Lohman and a fast-paced offensive attack proved to be the differences Friday evening as the Glades Day Gators claimed their second victory in three contests this season by beating Dade Christian 29-12.

Dade Christian, the second of three consecutive Class 2A schools the Gators are scheduled to play, only put 12 points on the board, but, according to Gator Coach Byron Walker, Jr., the two teams were much closer in most other stats.

"The game was closer than the score indicates. They may have been better than us statistically," said Walker.

So what won the game for the Gators? "We scored," said Walker. "Actually, our scoring may have been why their stats were that good. We didn't hold the ball that long. The times we had the football, we struck pretty early. They got the ball back rather quickly. They actually put together a couple rather good drives."

Both teams racked up about 250 yards offensively.

Quarterback Brian Lohman led the offensive attack with 112 yards passing. He completed seven of eight and threw a 38 yard touchdown pass to Mike Schlechter in the second quarter. That would turn out to be the winning touchdown, putting the Gators up 13-6.

"He's done an excellent job," said Walker of Lohman. "If he continues to play as effectively as he is, we'll do well."

Lohman adds a new dimension to the Gator offense: a throwing quarterback.

'Actually, our scoring may have been why their stats were that good. We didn't hold the ball that long.'

—Coach Byron Walker

In the past, most of the Gators' assault had been from the ground.

"We've already thrown the ball probably 20 more times than we had in the past few years at this time," said Walker. "He's a very accurate passer if you keep him in his range. If we don't try to go long or vary far down field, he's pretty accurate."

The Gators aren't abandoning their ground attack, though.

Only one of their four touchdowns last week were scored on passes. The other three were picked up by Jose Perez running the ball over the goal line.

Perez rushed seven times for a total of 73 yards and three touchdowns.

He scored the Gators' first touchdown to tie the score at six. When Schlechter put the ball between the uprights for the extra-point, Glades Day took a lead it would never relinquish.

Dade Christian took the opening kick-off and drove for 60 yards to score a touchdown.

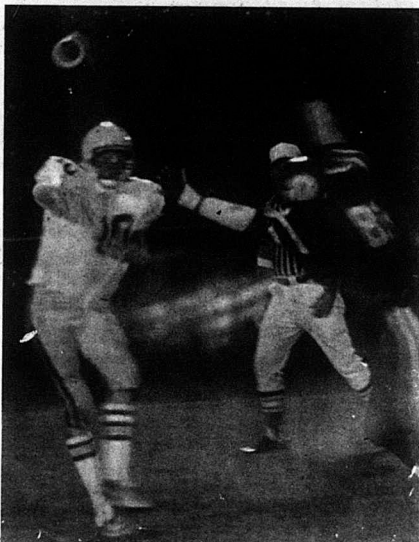

The Gators took the next kick-off and it looked like they were stopped at fourth down and long.

TAKING TO THE AIR didn't help the Jupiter cause Friday, as the Warriors failed to score in four periods of play against Pahokee.

Pahokee Blue Devils pick up first win for new coach

By MIKE UNDERWOOD

PAHOKEE — The Pahokee Blue Devils' first victory of the 1983 season represents a first of another sort for their coach.

The 14-0 shutout of the Jupiter Warriors was Amos Turner's first victory with the Blue Devils.

"It was a superb defensive effort," said Turner. "The offensive line is coming around. If we get some down field blocking from them, we might be able to break a few long plays off."

The victory gives the Blue Devils a 1-2 record that Turner hopes to see improved.

"This victory here will help," said Turner. "The team will start getting confidence in itself. When we play Atlantic at home this week, if we have a good game against them, it should turn the season around for us.

"The offensive line is improving. We had a man (Paul Buxton) who ran for 155 yards. We didn't score but we did move the ball," said Turner.

The night definitely belonged to the Blue Devil defense which not only held the Warriors to just 32 yards on the ground and 65 in the air, but scored Pahokee's first eight points in the second quarter.

Jerome Powell sacked the Jupiter quarterback in the end zone to put Pahokee up 2-0.

Both offenses failed to move the ball and the ried it in to put the Devils up 8-0.

The defenses held through the third quarter but Pahokee's offense broke through late in the fourth when Richard Lyndale ran the ball over the goal line from five yards out.

The Blue Devils rushed for 172 yards and passed for 43. They were penalized five times for a total loss of 65 yards. The Warriors lost 30 yards in four penalties.

This week, Pahokee hosts Atlantic.

Santa Lucas Chiefs scare Raiders, 20-14

By ALMA HENRY

BELLE GLADE - After playing on a rain-soaked field, the Glades Central Raiders almost went home Friday night singing the "rainy day blues" when Santa Lucus High School almost upset them.

The Santa Lucus Chiefs, 0-13 since fielding their first gridiron team in 1982, came within one point of beating the Raiders, considered by many coaches to be the best in the area. The Chiefs took the Raiders to two overtimes before falling 20-14.

The Raiders beat Santa Lucus 62-0 last year. Quarterback Kenneth Hammond, filling in for ailing Eric Smith, scored on a 10-yard run around the left end to give Glades Central the victory.

The Raiders led at halftime by a score of 14-0. Tight end John Ford scored during the first quarter on a 44-yard pass from Smith. Tim Sims kicked the extra point.

During the second quarter, Sims, on a 29-yard run, hit the pay dirt for the second touchdown of the game. He also kicked the extra point to give the Raiders a 14-0 lead at the half.

Neither team scored during the third quarter, although the Raiders had several touchdowns called by the officials.

The Chiefs tied the game in the fourth quarter with touchdowns by Steve Thomas and T. Connell.

The Raiders (3-0) had a chance to score as time was running out in regulation play. With 26 seconds left, Hamilton dropped back from Santa Lucus' 16-yard line on a fourth-down play. But he was sacked by Chiefs' defensive end Steve Thomas to send the game into overtime.

Thomas was hurt on the play and taken by ambulance to Glades General Hospital.

In the overtime, Santa Lucus (0-3) had the ball first. On a third down play, Glades Central linebacker Louis Oliver intercepted Chiefs' Quarterback Ronald Ryan.

The Raiders also failed to score on their first set of four downs.

During the second overtime, the Raiders scored a touchdown when Hammond went in from the 10 on first down. Sims' conversion was wide left.

The Chiefs then had four downs to match the Raiders. After three running plays proved unsuccessful, Ryan tried a fourth-down pass into the end zone that fell short.

The Raiders will travel to Fort Pierce Saturday to try and up their record to 4-0 against Fort Pierce Westwood. The game will kick-off at 8 p.m. The Raiders return home on Oct. 7 to face Twin Lakes High School.

RAIDERS scramble for valuable yardage against the Chiefs.

TAILBACK Tim Sims scored one of the Raiders' three touchdowns against Santa Lucus Friday night.

THE RAIDERS defeated the Chiefs by a score of 20-14 to up their season record to 3-0. The Raiders take on Fort Pierce Westwood Saturday in Fort Pierce.

Gators

But Dade Christian was penalized for defensive holding on the punt and the Gators were given an automatic first down.

That gave the Gator drive a new life. Perez carried the ball over from the two yard line.

In the second quarter, Lohmann completed a 38 yard pass to Schlechter to put the Gators up 13-6. That lead was increased when Lohmann completed a pass to Michael Mock for a two-point conversion that gave the Gators a 15-6 lead.

Dade Christian came back with a touchdown in the third period, but the Gators defense held Dade Christian the rest of the game while the offense put 14 more points on the board.

Perez crossed the goal line for his second touchdown of the evening when the Gators drove to the two yard line in the third period.

In the fourth, he returned a punt 53 yards for the final score of the game.

Schlechter kicked three extra-points to bring his game total to nine. Perez scored 18 and Mock two points.

Philip Echols was the Gators' second leading rusher with 53 yards in eight carries.

Lohmann completed two passes to Bayon Abraham, two to Bobby Crum, one to Schlechter, one to Mock and one to Royal Hayes.

According to Walker, the Gators were also playing without the services of their regular center, so Tim Kirchman had to fill in.

"I thought he did a real good job considering his lack of size and experience. If he didn't do the job, we would have lost the ball game."

The Gators are off this week and will be preparing for their next game against 2A Lake Placid.

Walker said he expects to concentrate on improving the defense.

"We'll see if we can't stop somebody," he said. "We played better Friday. I think the moves we made are going to be effective."

Economic Development approved, must be filled

BELLE GLADE - Belle Glade city commissioners are seeking individuals to serve on the city's newly established economic development board.

The ordinance establishing the board was read and adopted on first reading at the city commission's regular meeting Monday, September 26. Final adoption is expected in October.

According to City Attorney John E. Baker, the board must have no less than five members serving staggered terms, but it could carry more members if the city commission determines it necessary.

He added the board will have "pretty free reign as far as recommendations are concerned."

Anything it does must go to the city commission for approval, he added.

Baker said the ordinance doesn't establish any particular meeting schedule or requirements and that it can be triggered into activity by direction from the commission or city manager.

The goal of the board is to examine the various routes available to the city in attracting industry to the city and diversifying the economy.

Improving Crusaders lose to St. Edwards, 14-8

BELLE GLADE - Belle Glade Christian Coach James Jacks is optimistic.

His Crusader football squad got on the scoreboard for the first time this season in the fourth quarter Friday, September 25, but they still lost to St. Edwards 14-8.

Jacks thinks time was the only thing that kept the Crusaders from claiming their first victory. And he also thinks the Crusaders are in a position to upset seventh ranked King's Academy this weekend.

"We were a much improved ball club over weeks past," said Jacks. "We started playing ball. We just started playing late. If we had another two minutes to play, we would have won the game."

Athletic Director David Dayley echoed those sentiments. "If we had another quarter of football to play, we would have beat them. They want to play football. They looked a lot better."

The touchdown and two-point conversion the Crusaders scored early in the fourth quarter ended a streak of 11 scoreless Crusader periods that stretched through 132 minutes and five seconds of game time.

In that time span, the opposition had scored 54 points in three games while the Crusaders dropped to 0-3.

After a scoreless first period, St. Edwards put six points on the board when Craig Stevens carried the ball over from one yard out.

Later that same quarter, St. Edwards' Jeff Patches connected with Jodi Schulte for a 16-yard touchdown pass. The two point conversion was good and the teams went into the locker room at the half with the score at 14-0.

The Crusader defense shutout St. Edwards in the second half, but it wasn't until late in the third quarter before the Crusader offense finally took hold.

Kerry Kittrel blocked a punt and Johnnie Navarro recovered it on the St. Edwards four-yard line as the third period closed.

Mirto Vigoa scored on a four-yard run with 11:55 left in the game.

Tim Mann added the two-point conversion to close the gap to six.

That was all the scoring there would be, though. The Crusaders got the ball back with 2:30 left in the game and drove to the St. Edwards 25 yard line where a holding penalty pulled them back.

The clock ran out on the Crusader drive at the 25 yard line.

David Chamblee was the team's leading rusher with 33 yards in 13 carries.

Mirto Vigoa received two passes for 14 yards and carried the ball four times for 17 yards and the touchdown.

Vigoa also made five tackles and one assist. "He had a great all around game," said Dayley.

The Crusader's leading tackle was Jessie Hanna with three tackles and four assists.

Quarterback Tim Mann completed three of 11 pass attempts for 22 yards. He was intercepted twice.

Jacks thinks the near-win may have inspired the team enough to result in an upset of King's Academy this week.

"I think we're gonna beat King's Academy," said Jacks. "Our boys found out what it almost feels like to win. They're getting ready."

Pahokee museum to open Oct. 3

PAHOKEE -- The Pahokee Museum, located on Main Street next to the Chamber of Commerce, will open its doors October 3. The hours will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Kathy Cross, a member of the Pahokee Museum Club said the museum will be locked at all times, but if anyone wants to tour the museum, they can enter it by asking the Chamber of Commerce to unlock the door. The Chamber office is located next to the museum.

The museum has many items and photographs dating back to the early 1900s. One of the featured items is a 1930s pinball machine on loan to the museum from Dot Tucker, a long-time resident of Pahokee.

"We are hoping to soon have the first Girl Scout uniform version that was used in the 1930s," Cross said. Ruth Carpenter of Pahokee has the item and is planning to loan it to the museum committee, according to Cross.

Cross said anyone wishing to loan or donate items of historical significance to the Glades area can do so by calling her at 924-7421.

IF YOU WERE BORN at Everglades Memorial Hospital before 1960, the obstetrical table shown in this photograph was used for your delivery. The table is on display at the Pahokee Museum next to the

PBJC to present scholarships Oct. 5

Forty-eight students from 17 high schools in the area, including Christian Day, Glades Central High and Pahokee Junior-Senior High schools, will receive scholarships to Palm Beach Junior College at a ceremony Wednesday, Oct. 5, at 7:30 p.m. at the PBJC Central Auditorium.

The students are recipients of the President's Scholars Awards, which are full scholarships to PBJC given to any high school student who graduates in the top five percent of his or her class with a 3.5 grade point average or higher.

"The goal of this program is to provide incentives to the students who have excelled in their high school work and a scholastic challenge that will encourage their intellectual growth," said Hamid Faquire, director of financial aid. Special guests at the ceremony will include Edward M. Eissey, PBJC president, Dolly Hand, vice chairperson of the Board of Trustees, and H.W. Berryman, assistant superintendent for Regular Instruction for the Palm Beach County School System.

The high schools represented in the program are Atlantic High, Boca Raton High, Cardinal Newman High, Christian Day School, Clewiston High, Forest Hill High, Glades Central Community High, John I. Leonard High, Jupiter Community Senior High, Lake Worth Community High, Lake Worth Christian, North Shore High, Pahokee Junior-Senior High, Palm Beach Gardens High, Rosarian Academy, Suncoast High, and Twin Lakes High.

4 nurses join Everglades Memorial Hospital staff

PAHOKEE—The nursing staff at Everglades Memorial Hospital in Pahokee grew when four registered nurses signed on this week.

The nurses had just recently received word that they had passed the state board of nursing licensure examination.

The new nurses are Leslie Shackford, Vicki Duff, Maria Garcia and Leonora Gensoli.

Shackford is a graduate of Polk Community College and will be the RN supervisor of the hospital's nursery.

Duff, a graduate of Palm Beach Junior College School of Nursing is a staff nurse in the Surgery and Emergency Services departments.

Garcia, another recent graduate of PBJC, is a staff nurse in the obstetrics department. Gensoli came to Everglades Memorial from Central Philippine University and will be a staff nurse in the medical-surgery department.

"It is a pleasure to welcome each of you to the staff of the hospital," said Administrator Frank Steinberger. "We want you to feel at home here at Everglades Memorial and we do appreciate the fine job you do in keeping the quality of our health care at such a high standard."

Christine Hamilton, who last week took over as director of nursing at the hospital, said: "We are proud of each of you in your accomplishment and the hospital is fortunate to have you as staff nurses. You can be proud to work in such a fine hospital."

The hospital gave a reception for the four nurses Tuesday afternoon, September 27.

Practical nurses graduate at West Tech

BELLE GLADE .. Graduation ceremonies were conducted Friday, September 23 at West Tech. The guest speaker for the occasion was Dr. Jamie Benavides.

Joe Picklesimer, director of West Tech gave the welcome and the introduction of the new graduates by Karen DeStefano, a registered nurse and department head of health occupations and Practical Nurses.

Pins and certificates were presented to the new graduates by Father Charles Farrar, pastor of the St. John's Episcopal Church.

A reception followed the ceremonies in the student lounge.

Benediction was by Father Charles Farrar, pastor of the St. John's Episcopal Church.

MH plans tourney

James Hill, president of the Moore Haven Quarterback Club, announced the club will sponsor a softball tourney Oct. 8-9 at the Moore Haven ball field. The co-ed tourney will be open to all teams. Hill said the entry fee would be $85.

SHOPLIFTING
makes you a criminal!

And criminals do get caught! Now the stores are wise to shoplifters, and have the manpower and sophisticated equipment to prove it. Closed circuit cameras, undercover people, specially trained tagging systems... are all used to successfully catch shoplifters. And the stores are taking legal action! Shoplifters face even stiffer fines... even jail when they're caught... plus the humiliation of getting arrested, and a criminal record that could affect future schooling, jobs, credit rating, and the respect and trust of family and friends. Shoplifting... like any other crime... just doesn't pay!

Miniature cane knives

HANDCRAFTED LET-TEROPENERS were presented to Bob Lee, vice president of United States Sugar Corporation (far right) from Don Zaccagnino, instructor of the machine shop (seated), on behalf of the machine shop students and West Technical Education Center in appreciation for scrap metal provided to the students by US Sugar. Newspaper advertising appointments announced

Publisher Stan Martin is pleased to announce the promotion to Bill Phillips to the position of advertising director for the Herald-Observer.

Phillips has served as advertising sales representative since February with the Herald-Observer.

"Bill's promotion was based on his outstanding performance and value to the newspaper," Martin said.

"Bill has a genuine concern for the local community, the businesses he serves, and for the newspaper," Martin said.

"We are most proud of Bill and look for continued growth and improvement of the Herald-Observer through his efforts," he said.

"Bill's advertising expertise and editor Jeff Brown's nose for hard news and community service provides a winning combination," Martin said.

He also announced that Diana K. Martin had been added to the Herald-Observer staff as advertising specialist.

Mrs. Martin, a graduate of the University of Utah and native of Memphis, Tenn., has an extensive merchandising sales background and prior newspaper experience with the Virginia Beach Sun.

She is the mother of five children, ranging in age from 3 to 16.

Phillips graduated from Belle Glade High School in 1968 and attended the Career Academy of Dental and Business technology in Atlanta.

He also studied business management at Miami Dade Junior College.

BILL PHILLIPS

DIANA MARTIN

From 1972 until 1975 he was business manager for Highland Park General Hospital, a subsidiary of National Medical Care.

From 1976 to 1978 he was self-employed in the real estate business in Asheville, N.C.

His newspaper background includes one year as general manager and advertising director for Glades Trend Publishing, and sales experience with the Palm Beach Post and Jupiter Journal.

Phillips said he believes in the growth and potential of the western Palm Beach County area and in the Herald-Observer.

West Tech shop class thanks U.S. Sugar

Don Zaccagnino, West Technical Education's machine shop instructor has devised a unique, but appropriate way to express his, as well as West Tech's appreciation for the help and support given by US Sugar Corporation throughout the three years of operation. Zaccagnino has designed a one-quarter scale "miniature" of a cane machette to be used as a letter opener. The cane machette is made from scrap No. 304 stainless steel obtained from USSC. Zaccagnino said he has been able to get odd steel sizes, stainless and other materials for the use of his machine shop students that otherwise would be prohibited budget items. USSC has had a hand in aiding the other programs at West Tech as well.

Machine shop students have helped in the making of these cane machettes.

Presently five of the students at West Tech in the machine shop program are sons of USSC employees. They are Rick Britt, Lance Wynn, Eric Ray Adams, Don Hill, and Jeff Hill.

"US Sugar has a habit of usually working at their community involvement in a very quiet manner," said Zaccagnino. "All too often the many good things that they do for education, recreation, community facilities and projects, scholarships and you name it - they always seem to be there to give that helping hand and buck. They are rarely credited for their generosity and concern."

Zaccagnino said he feels that in some small way the gift of these miniatures to USSC officials would be an appropriate way of saying thank you USSC for your help to West Tech and the community.

Visual impairment doesn't hold back coffee shop operator

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - Some people work because they have to and a few able-bodied men and women claim they enjoy work.

There are very few people, though, who, if confronted with a disability that could make it difficult to work, wouldn't take Irene Garza is one of the few.

Garza, 59, is legally blind and, if she didn't work, would be eligible for disability assistance because of the visual impairment she's suffered since she was three months old.

But Garza doesn't collect welfare or social security or disability checks. She collects a pay check from the Florida Division of Blind Services. And last week, she received a plaque from her supervisor for the 10 years of service she's put in as operator of the coffee shop at the Palm Beach County Glades extension office.

Garza started working 10 years ago because she wanted to get out her house and do something other than be a housewife.

"I wanted to get out," said Garza. "It's good that I did because this is all the income I have."

Garza was tested 10 years ago when she decided to work and it was determined she could baby-sit or operate a coffee shop. She chose the coffee shop and said she intends to continue at the job until she can't handle the job anymore.

"I like to get out and work, serve the public, be something to the community," said Garza. "As long as I am able, I'm gonna get out and hustle. I'm gonna be here till I can no longer do it."

Garza said she has to rely on people's honesty in some cases because of her visual impairment and she often "kindly" asks some customers to help themselves because she can't discern some items from similar ones on the same rack.

"Most seem cooperative," she said. "Every now and then you get a nut, but you have to deal with that."

She said for the most part, she likes the people she deals with.

"Yes, you get to hear their problems and every now and then you can help them. At least give them a kind word," said Garza. "Plus, I feel a little proud of myself."

When Garza started to work, she was raising three young daughters at home. The daughters are grown and married now.

The problems of being a working mother were compounded by the adjustment Garza had to make, moving from the shelter of home to the hustle and bustle of the working environment with a visual impairment.

"Everything was new to me," said Garza. "We (she and her husband) both went shopping for groceries. He handled the utility bills. It was different."

Garza said she's glad she made the adjustment. It's better than sitting at home collecting disability checks because accepting that aid would mean she couldn't work, she said.

The Division of Blind Services operates coffee shops throughout the state, said Garza, who has trained two other operators in her 10 years here.

One of the individuals she's trained died when he was struck by a car while crossing a street, something Garza said concerned her when she knew the individual. She said he often used to walk across the street as if he had vision, a feat she shies away from.

"I have a cane, but I don't use it," she smiled.

The second trainee she lost touch with. Garza said she thinks she started working too late. If she'd have started earlier, she said she'd be eligible for a decent pension.

"Still, she expects to be working until she isn't able."

Leukemia chapter offers financial help for cancer patients

Residents of Palm Beach, Glades, Hendry, Highlands, Indian River, Martin, Okeechobee and St. Lucie counties who have leukemia, lymphoma, Hodgkin's disease or multiple myeloma are eligible for up to $750 a person annually in private financial assistance to cover outpatient care from the Leukemia Society of America's Palm Beach Area Chapter. Society officials say that recipients must not be confined to a hospital, although they may be treated at one from time to time. There are no age, race, ethnic, religious or other restrictions for assistance from the society, which is a national voluntary health agency. The aid program is supported entirely by contributions. Payments cover drugs, various blood processing costs, transportation to approved treatment to the Palm Beach centers, and x-ray Area Chapter of the Leukemia Society, 324 Datura St., Room 206, for aid may be obtained by calling 305 33401. 832-2445, or by writing

Miniature cane knives

HANDCRAFTED LET-TEROPENERS were presented to Bob Lee, vice president of United States Sugar Corporation (far right) from Don Zaccagnino, instructor of the machine shop (seated), on behalf of the machine shop students and West Technical Education Center in appreciation for scrap metal provided to the students by US Sugar. Also shown is Joe Picklesimer, the director at West Tech.

Newspaper advertising appointments announced

Publisher Stan Martin is pleased to announce the promotion to Bill Phillips to the position of advertising director for the Herald-Observer.

Phillips has served as advertising sales representative since February with the Herald-Observer.

"Bill's promotion was based on his outstanding performance and value to the newspaper," Martin said.

"Bill has a genuine concern for the local community, the businesses he serves, and for the newspaper," Martin said.

"We are most proud of Bill and look for continued growth and improvement of the Herald-Observer through his efforts," he said.

"Bill's advertising expertise and editor Jeff Brown's nose for hard news and community service provides a winning combination," Martin said.

He also announced that Diana K. Martin had been added to the Herald-Observer staff as advertising specialist.

Mrs. Martin, a graduate of the University of Utah and native of Memphis, Tenn., has an extensive merchandising sales background and prior newspaper experience with the Virginia Beach Sun.

She is the mother of five children, ranging in age from 3 to 16.

Phillips graduated from Belle Glade High School in 1968 and attended the Career Academy of Dental and Business technology in Atlanta.

He also studied business management at Miami Dade Junior College.

BILL PHILLIPS

DIANA MARTIN

From 1972 until 1975 he was business manager for Highland Park General Hospital, a subsidiary of National Medical Care.

From 1976 to 1978 he was self-employed in the real estate business in Asheville, N.C.

His newspaper background includes one year as general manager and advertising director for Glades Trend Publishing, and sales experience with the Palm Beach Post and Jupiter Journal.

Phillips said he believes in the growth and potential of the western Palm Beach County area and in the Herald-Observer.

West Tech shop class thanks U.S. Sugar

Don Zaccagnino, West Technical Education's machine shop instructor has devised a unique, but appropriate way to express his, as well as West Tech's appreciation for the help and support given by US Sugar Corporation throughout the three years of operation.

Zaccagnino has designed a one-quarter scale "miniature" of a cane machete to be used as a letter opener.

The cane machete is made from scrap No. 304 stainless steel obtained from USSC. Zaccagnino said he has been able to get odd steel sizes, stainless and other materials for the use of his machine shop students that otherwise would be prohibited budget items. USSC has had a hand in aiding the other programs at West Tech as well.

Machine shop students have helped in the making of these cane machetes.

Presently five of the students at West Tech in the machine shop program are sons of USSC employees. They are Rick Britt, Lance Wynn, Eric Ray Adams, Don Hill, and Jeff Hill.

"US Sugar has a habit of usually working at their community involvement in a very quiet manner," said Zaccagnino. "All too often the many good things that they do for education, recreation, community facilities and projects, scholarships and you name it — they always seem to be there to give that helping hand and buck. They are rarely credited for their generosity and concern."

Zaccagnino said he feels that in some small way the gift of these miniatures to USSC officials would be an appropriate way of saying thank you USSC for your help to West Tech and the community.

Visual impairment doesn't hold back coffee shop operator

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE — Some people work because they have to and a few able-bodied men and women claim they enjoy work.

There are very few people, though, who, if confronted with a disability that could make aid available to them, wouldn't take it.

Irene Garza is one of the few. Garza, 59, is legally blind and, if she didn't work, would be eligible for disability assistance because of the visual impairment she's suffered since she was three months old.

But Garza doesn't collect welfare or social security or disability checks. She collects a pay check from the Florida Division of Blind Services. And last week, she received a plaque from her supervisor for the 10 years service she's put in as operator of the coffee shop at the Palm Beach County Glades extension office.

Garza started working 10 years ago because she wanted to get out her house and do something other than be a housewife.

'Everything to gain and nothing to lose' with ESOP

By JIM JONES

"It's the greatest thing to ever happen to United States Sugar Corp. and is the crowning achievement of my 37 years with the company," John B. Boy, president of USSC, said Tuesday, Sept. 20 of the recently announced Employee Stock Ownership Plan (ESOP).

Under the plan, USSC employees will eventually own 47 percent of USSC stock.

ESOP will not affect employee pension plans. It will be an additional employee benefit. "It won't cost them a penny," Boy said. Stock will be awarded based on the employee's tenure with the company.

"The ESOP helps employees get a stake in the company for which they work," Boy said.

"Employees have everything to gain and nothing to lose," he said.

tender period and can look forward to the nonpayment of dividends for at least three years, due to heavy borrowing to pay for the ESOP.

"There is no sound reason" not to accept the tender offer, Boy said, adding that he plans to cash in his personal stock.

"A lot of people have called and been very happy" with the ESOP announcement, Fairbanks said.

"The history has been that employees who will now be owners of the company do that much better. It gives them something to work for other than a paycheck," Fairbanks said.

"It perpetuates the ownership that has been good to the company and the community," Boy said.

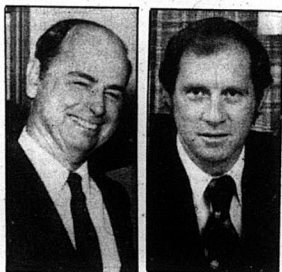

Boy said all feedback he has received, from key executives to hourly wage employees, has been positive to the ESOP.

USSC has advised the union of the ESOP and under current labor laws must negotiate it with labor leaders. "You can't unilaterally give labor anything," Boy said of current labor laws. No problem is foreseen, however, in implementing the ESOP as a new employee benefit.

The tender offer is subject to, among other things, a minimum of 215,000 USSC shares being properly tendered by the public stockholders and not withdrawn by midnight, New York City time, on Tuesday, Oct. 18, the expiration date for the offer, unless the time is extended.

The withdrawal deadline is Tuesday, Oct. 11.

JOHN B. BOY

NELSON
FAIRBANKS

Architects of the plan were USSC Vice Pres. Nelson Fairbanks and Miami attorney Bob Muraro, partner in the firm of Merzhon, Sawyer, Johnston, Dunwoody and Cole, which has served as general counsel for USSC most of its existence.

The plan was put together in utmost secrecy to avoid a wave of stock market speculation prior to announcement of the cash tender offer for up to 3 1/4 million shares of USSC's common stock at $68 a share.

"It was no easy job keeping it a secret in Cleveland," Boy said.

At $68 a share, USSC's offer is well above the going market rate of the stock prior to the announcement.

main objectives of the change are threefold:

1. To provide a substantial margin for public stockholders to encourage them to cash in their stock. USSC stock has been essentially undervalued on the market and it has previously been difficult to sell a block of stock of any appreciable size.

2. To provide employees an opportunity to own 47 percent of the company.

3. To maintain the present majority ownership of the company — the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation, the Mott Children's Health Center, and members of the Mott Family.

Uppermost is the Mott family's concern for the welfare of the company, the communities it serves, and its employees uppermost, Boy said.

"It's a unique plans. It has all winners and no losers," he said.

Boy said he expects all public stockholders to take advantage of the premium offer ($68 per share).

Stockholders who hold on to their stock will watch the value decrease after the cash

The Southeast Bank Executive Credit Line

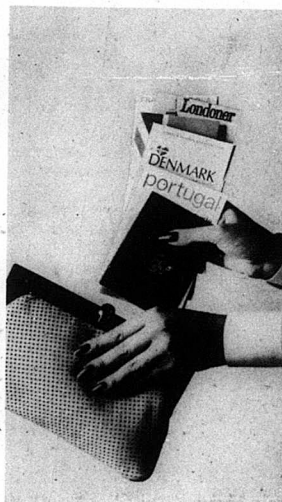

When you need money, why wait for your bank to agree with you? Now you can establish a personal line of credit with Southeast Bank, from $2,500 to $100,000 or more. It's called Executive Credit, and it gives you cash-in-hand convenience for those opportunities that just can't wait.

You can borrow at prime

With the Executive Credit Equity Line, you'll be borrowing at the prime rate — the same low rate paid by many corporations. To establish your line, you pay only an appraisal fee, plus the usual out-of-pocket expenses which are part of most credit lines secured by real estate. These costs are one-time charges, and can be paid from the proceeds of your first advance.

With the Executive Credit Signature Line there are no fees, and the interest rate will be 2% over the current prime rate.

With both the Equity and Signature Lines the interest rate will be set each month, and the annual percentage rate will vary with the prime rate. Of course, you pay no interest until you actually use your credit line, and then only on the outstanding balance.

You may never have to apply for another loan

If you are a Southeast deposit customer, one application is all we need to establish your line of credit. From then on, you'll simply write a special Executive Credit check whenever you need cash.

If you don't already bank with Southeast, Executive Credit is an excellent reason to change. Because you may never have to apply for another loan again.

ACT NOW

To establish your Executive Credit Line, stop in at any of the more than 160 Southeast Banking Centers throughout Florida.

Executive Credit. From Southeast Bank — the acknowledged leader in Florida banking.

You can borrow at prime. Now only 11%.

Tough shopping cart law passes state legislature

The Florida State Legislature has passed a law cracking down on those who remove shopping carts from the premises of super markets.

Effective Oct. 1, the law makes it a first degree misdemeanor for anyone to unlawfully possess shopping carts, laundry carts, dairy cases, egg baskets and poultry baskets.

The law creates a presumption that anyone in possession of such items presumed to be in possession of stolen property.

Bank of Pahokee announces Saturday banking hours

Saturday banking returns at the Bank of Pahokee's offices beginning Saturday, Oct. 1, Julius T. Moon, president of the bank, announced this week.

Drive-up teller windows at offices in Belle Glade and Pahokee will open from 9 a.m. to noon every Saturday through the winter season. Bank lobbies at both locations will be closed on Saturdays.

Bank offices at Belle Glade and Pahokee provide customers with 24-hour banking service with automatic teller machines, noted Mr. Moon. The Bank of Pahokee is open Monday through Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Fridays from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. "We hope opening our drive-up windows on Saturdays will be an added convenience for our customers," Mr. Moon said.

The Bank of Pahokee is Palm Beach County's oldest bank with nearly 62 years of continuous service. Offices are located at 800 S. Main St. in Belle Glade and 104 S. Lake Ave. in Pahokee.

Jordan-Houser exchange vows in evening ceremony

Karen Annette Jordan and Kerry Duane Houser exchanged wedding vows 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 6, in a candlelight ceremony at the First United Methodist Church of Clewiston. Rev. Marshall Brown officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The ceremony featured a unity candle and the congregation joining in saying the Lord's Prayer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Jordan of 614 E. Pasadena Ave. The groom is the son of Mrs. Lester Mensch of River Road, Moore Haven.

Organist Mrs. Alden Wyse and soloist Sharon Harris provided special music for the occasion: "Wedding Song" and "I promise You," accompanied by pianist Tina Kelley.

The church was decorated with palms, candelabras, bouquets of daisies, white and burgandy carnations, and a centerpiece of carnations, daisies, and doves, spring rye fern and white bows on the altar.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

She wore a traditional long-sleeved, high neckline wedding gown with a sheer bodice accented with seed pearls and chantilly lace. Layers of white chantilly lace extended down from her waist ending in a chapel length train. Her veil was made of sheer tulle outlined with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, white miniature carnations, babies' breath, greenery, and an orchid in the center.

MR. AND MRS. KERRY HOUSER

Hergoing-away outfit was a gray and white sleeveless dress.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Jeanette Haire of Thomasville, Ga. The maid of honor was Pam May of Moore Haven. Bridesmaids were Wendy Reaume of Port Charlotte and Laurie Poppel of Fort Lauderdale.

All wore floor-length dresses of burgandy taffeta with puffed sleeves and fitted waists and a headpiece of burgandy miniature carnations and babies' breath. Their flowers were burgandy nose guys and white carnations, babies' breath, and burgandy ribbons.

Flowergirl Sonya Richmond wore a floor-length burgandy quiana dress and carried a basket of miniature burgandy and white carnations and a burgandy bow.

Best man was Randy Nobles of Gainesville, Brian Beebe, Walt Vaughn, and Edward Vickers, all of Clewiston, served as groomsmen. George Richmond of Belle Glade served as ringbearer.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with tails. The best man wore a silver tux with tails. The groomsmen wore silver tuxedos without tails.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length dress of suede rose and a corsage of triple white roses with matching rose-colored bow. The groom's mother wore a floor-length pink dress with matching jacket and a suede rose corsage of triple white roses with a pink bow.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony at John B. Boy Auditorium.

The auditorium was decorated with palms and tables were covered with white linen tablecloths, spring rye fern, and daisies.

The newly weds, family and guests enjoyed a three-tiered cake, sitting on four columns, over a fountain and flowers. The cake was topped with bedding bells in front of a large heart.

Serving were Lisa Miller, Laura Troast, and Dawn Light.

Sue Toth of Clearwater was in charge of the bride's book.

The reception included a dance with music being provided by the Midnight Riders. Linda Muraw was in charge of the food.

The couple departed on a week's honeymoon in the Bahamas and are now residing in Tampa.

Mrs. Houser is a 1982 graduate of Clewiston High School and is now attending the Florida College of Medical and Dental Assistants.

Mr. Houser is a 1981 graduate of Moore Haven High School.

He is employed by Suncoast Office Systems in Tampa.

Out-of-town guests included Anne Mensch of Bradenton; Velma Cone of Osceola Groves; Mr. and Mrs. Artie Cone, Jr., Kenneth and Leslie Cone, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Haire, all of Thomasville, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. James White of Crystal River; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harrell of Bonita Springs; and Judy Melfy of West Palm Beach.

2 CDS students attend seminar

BELLE GLADE -- Angela Miller and Gloria Ramos, both juniors at Christian Day School, have been selected to participate in a seminar in practical leadership skills. The Seminar for Tomorrow's Leaders will be at the Jupiter Hilton Hotel in Tequesta September 27-30.

The seminar is a project of Rotary International District 699, Southeast Florida and will bring together approximately 100 student leaders from high schools throughout this area.

The delegates will be

Angela Miller

Gloria Ramos

given talks by prominent business and community leaders and participate in discussions and recreational activities.

Miller and Ramos are both members of the Crusader choir, student council and National Honor Society. Ramos is also a cheerleader, junior class treasurer and a member of the annual staff. Miller is the junior class secretary and is a starter on the Crusader volleyball, basketball and softball teams.
